John is a full-time mediator. He has handled over 5,000 mediations during his 41 years as a Trial Lawyer and Mediator in a wide variety of substantive practice areas. Specializing in pre- and post-suit, multi-party, high value, layered and complex disputes, Mr. Freud brings a unique style and structure to each and every mediation environment. His focus is not merely on the facts of a particular conflict, but more importantly, it includes a persistent effort to determine the underlying Drivers of decision-making of each participant - party and lawyer alike - in the mediation process.

Whether it's a construction defect dispute, or mass tort/personal injury/wrongful death matter (i.e., FIU Bridge & Miami-Dade College Garage collapses; San Matera Homeowners Association, Brickell House actions; PULSE Nightclub shooting matters) - or any number and variety of complex matters, such as real property, business, banking, professional malpractice, product liability, class action, commercial and environmental disputes; patent, copyright, trademark and intellectual property matters; all facets of insurance, suretyship, wind-related matters, including first and third-party claims, and bad faith; and, ADA, employment discrimination, and police/public official/governmental/administrative and Federal Agency conflicts - John's disciplined and purposefully structured approach to the mediation process provides a fully engaged environment for all mediation participants to be able to navigate their way to voluntary resolution.
